International Journal of Economics and Business Research (IJEBR)

✧ Call For papers

Special Issue on: "Brazil, Russia, India, China & Co: Myths and Realities about the Emerging Countries"

Guest Editor: Thierry Warin, Middlebury College, USA and CIRANO, Canada

The special issue aims at providing a thorough analysis of economic and geopolitical impacts related to the rise of the new emerging countries. In the context of the recent financial crisis, oil scarcity and environmental challenges, this analysis is more than needed. For this issue, we encourage submissions of theoretical and empirical papers on emerging countries, regional integrations involving emerging countries as well as on other economic and geopolitical issues.

🕒 Subject Coverage

Topics include but are not limited to the following, as long as they touch on emerging countries:

- International trade and country characteristics
- Emerging countries and the global financial crisis
- Actual strengths and weaknesses of emerging countries
- Emerging countries and international organisations
- What new role for emerging countries?

🕒 Notes for Prospective Authors

Submitted papers should not have been previously published nor be currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. (Conference papers may only be submitted if they were not originally copyrighted and if they have been completely re-written.)

All papers are refereed through a peer review process. A guide for authors, sample copies and
